

Qualitative Benefits

While the economic linkage between an airport and on-airport tenants and travel-related industries is readily apparent, there are less obvious interdependencies between airports and their communities. These qualitative benefits, for which dollar values cannot readily be assigned, take place on a regular basis and add to the quality of life of residents in the market area. Although difficult to quantify, both non-aviation-related companies and the general public throughout Colorado depend on the State's airports for a variety of uses including:

- ⊗ SEARCH AND RESCUE
- ⊗ AERIAL FIRE FIGHTING
- ⊗ AIR MEDICAL TRANSPORT
- ⊗ PUBLIC SAFETY
- ⊗ AGRICULTURE
- ⊗ RECREATION
- ⊗ JUST-IN-TIME SHIPPING
